

Rock Island Blanks Poconos In Softball Clash, 7-0

Pennsylvania Entry Bows From Action

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Rock Island, Ill., eliminated the Twin City Poconos from the International Softball Congress Tournament here last night by a 7-0 score.

It was the second setback for the Poconos, who suffered their initial loss on Sunday night in the double elimination tournament.

Last night's defeat marked the second straight game in which the Poconos have failed to score a run. The Monroe County colorbearers have been scoreless in 14 innings since moving into action in this California city.

Stan Tchortz was scheduled to start on the hill for the Poconos, managed by Ray Davies. Joe Drach was the losing pitcher in the first contest.

One Hit
Jim Bonner had a perfect game going for six and two-thirds innings, but Harold Strunk lashed a single to left to ruin Bonner's bid for a perfect game.

Bonner registered 16 strikeouts in the seven inning struggle, as Rock Island touched Tchortz and Drach for nine safeties. The Poconos committed two errors, while Rock Island played perfect defensive ball.

Each of the six games played in the tournament have featured the losing teams in a scoreless role.

In addition to the Poconos, Coolidge, Ariz., failed to cross the plate while dropping a 1-0 decision to Tijuana, Mexico, in last night's third round play.

Eighteen teams were entered in the tournament, from all parts of the United States and two from foreign countries.

The tournament took place at Park Island Field, a stadium seating 9,000 persons situated on the outskirts of Long Beach.

Long Beach is the defending champion in this contest.

Twin City Poconos traveled the longest distance to participate in the tournament, traveling approximately 3,600 miles.

Scores from Monday's games included the following:

Gopher City, Calif. 2, New Westminster, British Columbia, 0. El Paso, Texas 3, Fort Wayne, Ind. 0.

El Paso is the team that defeated the Poconos Sunday night, 2-0.

WVPO will carry a tape recording of last night's game today at 3:30 p. m.

Accident In Stroudsburg

STROUDSBURG Police reported an accident occurred involving two cars at the corner of Fifth and Sarah Sts at 9:15 p. m. yesterday.

Police said a car operated by Kenneth Nicholson, 30, of Box 292, Uniontown RD 1, was proceeding east on Sarah and went through a stop sign at the intersection of Fifth and struck the car of Norman Whitmore, 25, 12 Evergreen Court, Stroudsburg. Whitmore was traveling north on Fifth when the accident happened.

Damage to both cars totaled $145, police reported. Police said Nicholson will be charged with failure to stop at a stop sign.

No Guarantee Of Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) — A group of coal region senators Tuesday told representatives of the Anthracite Expressway Assn. that a proposed hike in state gasoline tax may not guarantee funds for the Expressway.

The association asked the senators at a meeting to support the one cent a gallon increase if it would insure funds for the Expressway.

Minister Terms Blue Laws Big Hurdle To Pennsylvania

NEWFOUNDLAND — The Rotary Club Monday night held a prominent churchman cite the Sunday Blue Laws as being partially responsible for the inability of Pennsylvania industries to compete with out-of-state and foreign businesses.

Rev. William Vaughn Ischle, Jr., rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, pointed out the tourist and convention business as an example of a state industry hobbled by unjust legislation.

"Because Philadelphia and Pittsburgh hotels cannot serve alcoholic beverages on Sunday those cities lose more than nine million dollars in convention business annually. This figure does not include the money that is earned by Pennsylvanians during the week and spent because of our outmoded Blue Laws, in adjacent states on Sunday," he declared.

The Philadelphia clergyman also pointed out that hotels pay 20 direct and indirect taxes to the Commonwealth and that any increase in business would result in more badly needed state revenue.

"Let's not overlook the human values involved," he said. "If this convention business is reclaimed, it is estimated that an additional 10,000 man-days of work will be provided in (Please turn to Page 13)

Red Threats Bring Turmoil To India

Ike Anxious To Remove Berlin Threat

LONDON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are counting on the President's exchange of visits with Nikita Khrushchev to remove the pistol pointing at West Berlin.

If the Soviet Premier will remove the threat the two Western leaders will offer to hold a series of East-West summit meetings.

This was reported by high diplomatic sources Tuesday night to have been the main strategy decision reached in the Eisenhower-Macmillan talks.

The President, diplomats said, resisted Macmillan's strong bid for an early summit meeting, and insisted any decision on such a meeting must await the outcome of his talks with Khrushchev. Macmillan was said finally to have agreed.

Accumulated Business
These things settled, the President spent the day working on accumulated White House business. He also engaged in a little putting practice about as close to the heart of London as any golfer can get—on the lawn at Winfield House, the U.S. ambassador's residence in Regent's Park.

Then he gave himself a soldier's treat, talking over old experiences with wartime associates. He was host at a Winfield House dinner party which had such names as Sir Winston Churchill and popery Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery on the guest list. It was a stag affair.

Mrs. Lakshmi Pandit, India's ambassador to Britain, called on Eisenhower Tuesday night. Mrs. Pandit, sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, asked for the meeting last week after India's border troubles with the Red Chinese began making headlines.

Eisenhower will hop to London airport by helicopter Wednesday morning to avoid snarling London's rush hour traffic. Then he will go to Paris in a jet airliner for talks with President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle Conference
In Paris the President will attempt to restore France's enthusiasm for the North Atlantic Alliance. And he anticipated that De Gaulle will seek American backing for a new French plan for bringing peace to rebellious Algeria.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter hope this plan will be liberal enough for the United States to support the French in Algeria in the United Nations.

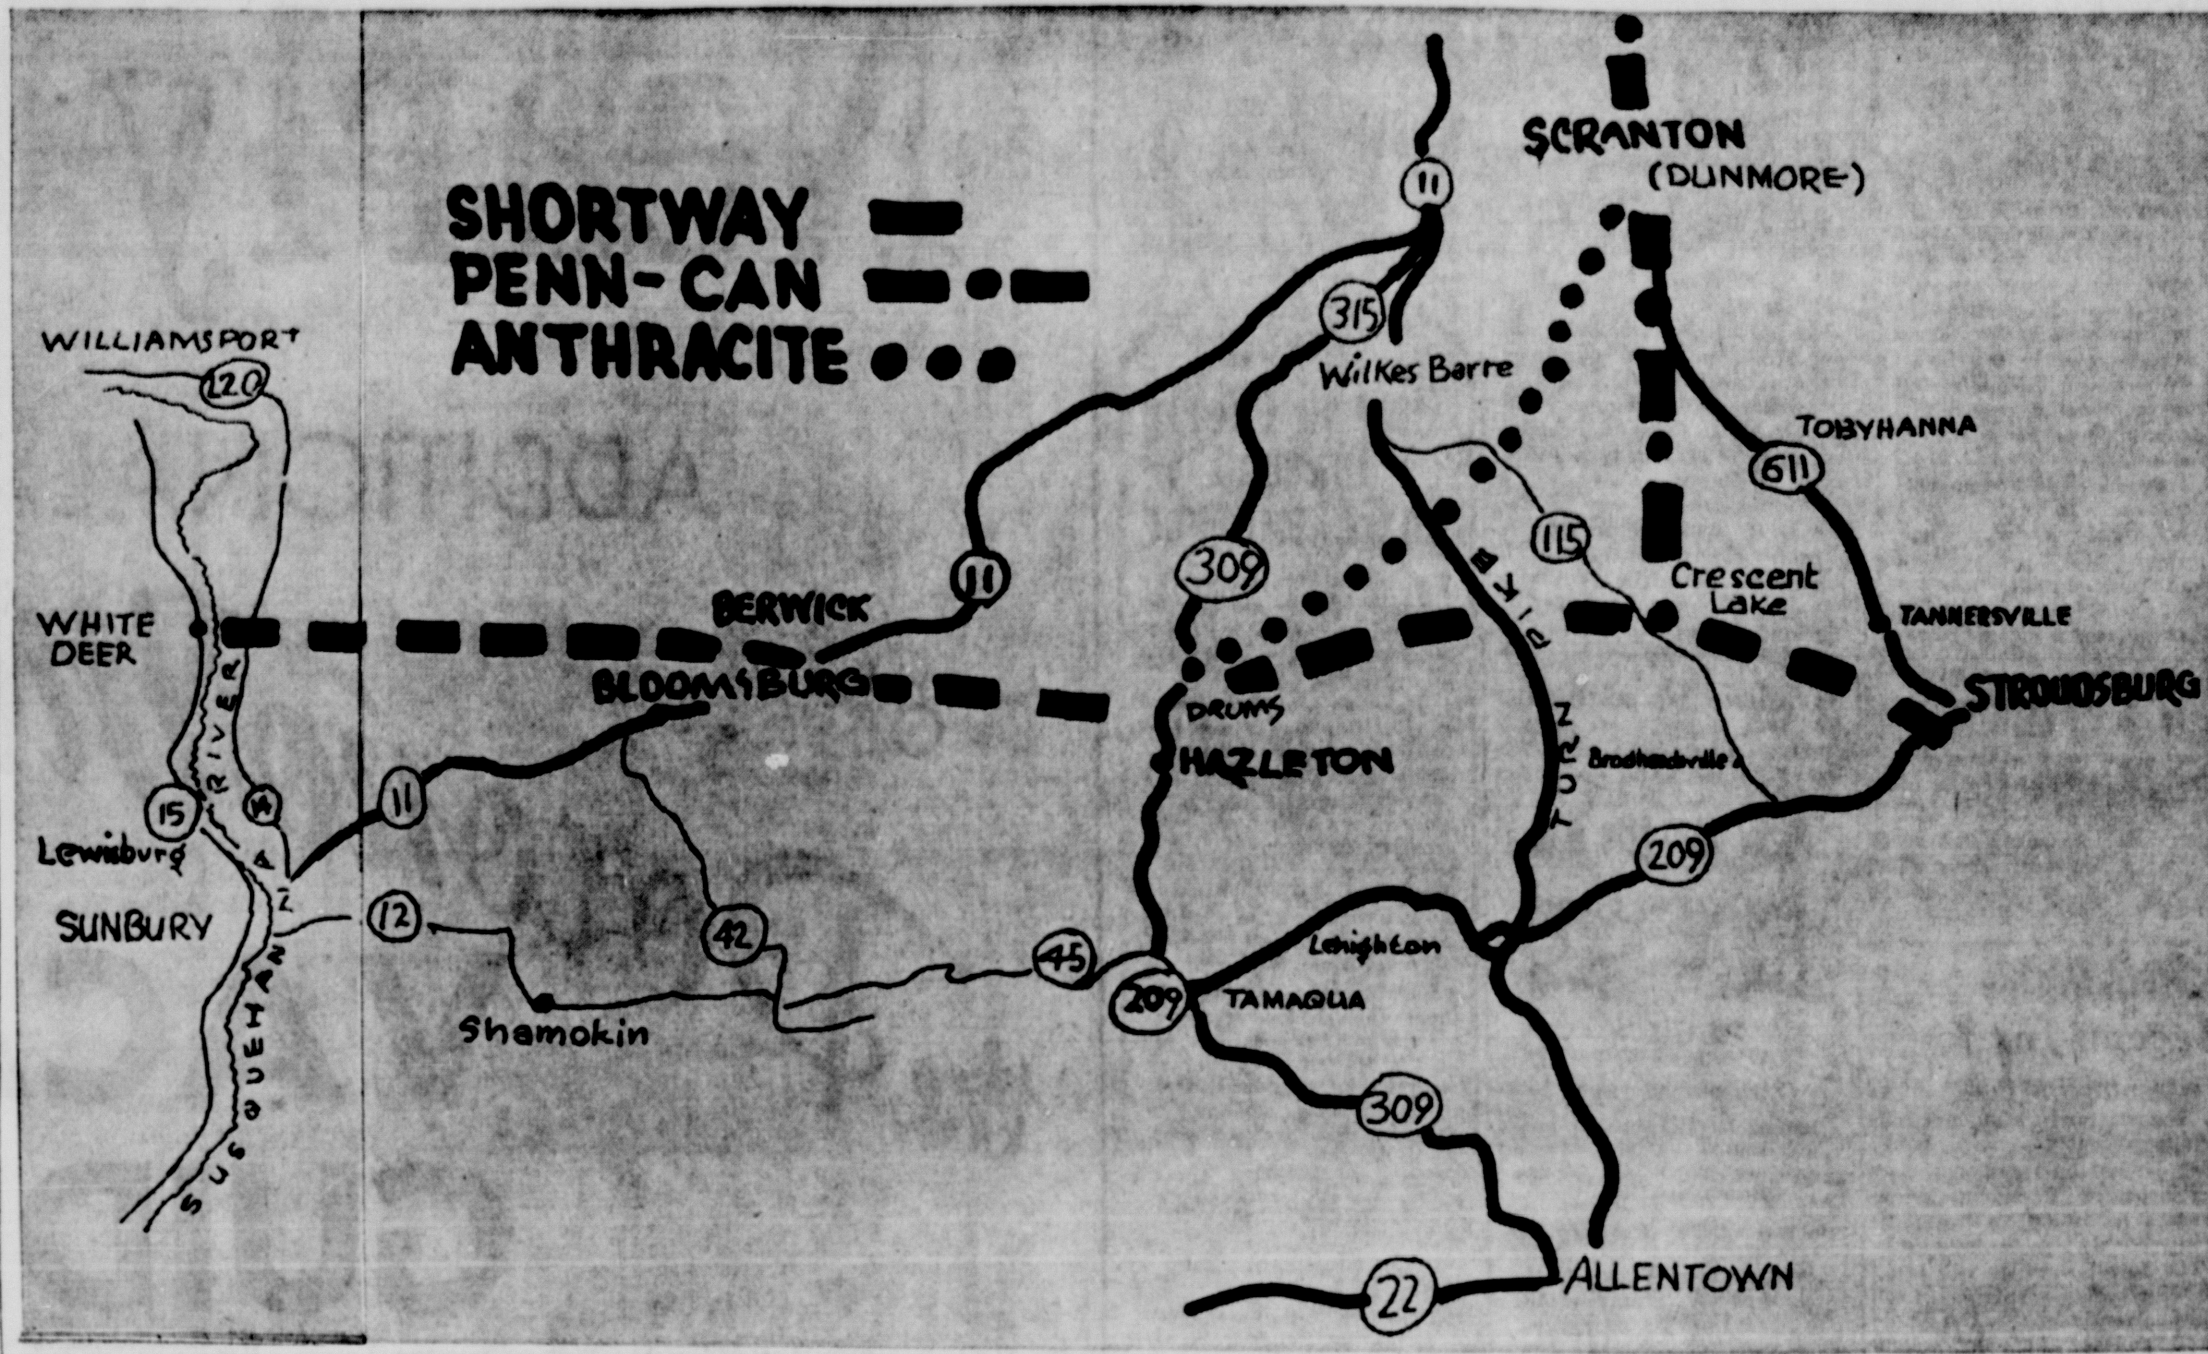

Already Eisenhower's venture in personal diplomacy has produced some hopeful signs.

In the Soviet Union Khrushchev described Eisenhower as a man of peace and anticipated fruitful results from his talks with the President in Washington and Moscow.

In Bonn — Eisenhower's first stop—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has made two attempts to thaw the international climate since Eisenhower's visit to West Germany.

Adenauer apologized to the Poles for the Nazi attack on them 30 years ago and predicted that "the new Germany would one day be a good neighbor of Poland."

He wrote a friendly letter to Khrushchev saying that no one in the West German government wants revenge on the East for taking German territory at the end of World War II.

EASTERN HALF of Central Pennsylvania has never been served by an adequate east-west highway. That condition will be remedied when Keystone Shortway is completed. Highways Secretary Park Martin has pledged state to rush work on 90-mile stretch of Shortway from Stroudsburg area to intersection with Route 15 at White Deer, Union County, when funds become available. Importance of Shortway is graphically illustrated by above map, showing how it will connect with such important traffic arteries as Routes 14, 11, 309, 115, Pennsylvania Turnpike and two proposed superhighways—Anthracite Expressway and Penn-Can Highway. Latter will join Shortway at Crescent Lake, Monroe County, and Expressway at Drums, near Hazleton.

May Be Hoax

Two Million Dollars—One Year To Live

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A story about a woman cancer victim being the sole heir to a two-million-dollar fortune began to look like a hoax Tuesday.

Mrs. Felice Naccarelli, 46-year-old Pittsburgh cancer victim who claims doctors give her only one year to live, Tuesday was hazy on just what it is all about.

Mrs. Naccarelli said

Monday she had received telegrams from Aberdeen, Scotland, saying a rich uncle had passed away and left her two million dollars.

Tuesday, from reflections of extreme wealth in her remaining year, Mrs. Naccarelli was jerked to reality by her newly hired attorney, Howard R. Eulenstein.

"The whole affair may be a monstrous joke," he said. "We feel that these telegrams originated in Pittsburgh."

Eulenstein began letting air out of the bubble after a thorough check of Aberdeen disclosed no recent death to anyone named John Lennon. That was her rich uncle's name, Mrs. Naccarelli said.

Mrs. Naccarelli's claim that her uncle helped design the ocean liners Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth was disclaimed in Scotland by John Brown, Ltd., the ship builders.

Western Union began a search of messages, relays and cables trying to determine if the telegrams to Mrs. Naccarelli did indeed come from Aberdeen on the North Sea coast of from some substation in the Pittsburgh area. As indications began accumulating that the messages were born in Pittsburgh, Mrs. Naccarelli and her husband canceled plans to fly to New York and then on to Britain.

Naccarelli and his wife both were vague. "It may be two million, it may be two hundred, I don't know," the Pittsburgh cement contractor said before having his telephone disconnected.

Paris To Roll Out Lengthy Red Carpet For Eisenhower

PARIS (AP)—A red carpet longer than a football field will be rolled out at Le Bourget airfield today in a lavish welcome for President Eisenhower.

From the moment he steps on the 131-yard carpet, Eisenhower will be engulfed with French affection and champagne toasts. The reception for the American liberator of France is expected to exceed any in postwar Paris with the possible exception of that for Queen Elizabeth II during her visit.

It will far surpass that on Eisenhower's last trip here two years ago when he came to a NATO meeting. That was not an official visit to France and there was little pomp. This will be the first visit of an American president since Woodrow Wilson came after World War I.

Fast For Eyes
But though the Eisenhower visit is likely to be a spectacular feast for the eyes, his talks with President Charles de Gaulle seem destined, so far as the French are concerned, for dungeon-like secrecy.

At Elysee Palace, De Gaulle's office said no briefing has been foreseen for the press.

The spokesman said that James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, might be holding briefings.

The Elysee press office said that it would be available to answer questions about the menus and guest lists for official luncheons and dinners.

"But we will know nothing about political matters," a spokesman quickly added.

Facilities have been arranged in Paris for the President to hold a news conference.

Underlying the welcome to Eisenhower is De Gaulle's desire to restore French grandeur and bolster his political position in the world.

Yetter Places Photo Bill In House

(Special To The Daily Record)

HARRISBURG — Monroe County Rep. Van D. Yetter yesterday introduced in the State House of Representatives a bill which would provide free photocopies of discharges for Korean War veterans.

It was referred to the committee on counties and is expected to be considered by that group today.

Yetter received special permission of the House to introduce the measure since the deadline for introduction of new bills had passed.

Applications
Veterans require copies of their discharges to apply for the Korean bonus when application forms are ready.

Most counties have been registering soldiers' discharges free of charge, but making a nominal charge for the photostats.

(Monroe County, for example, charges one dollar for a photostatic copy, although the recording is free.)

Yetter's bill would authorize counties to make the photostats free. It has the backing of the administration.

In other legislative developments, House Bill 480, introduced jointly by Yetter and three other representatives, is in position for final reading. It is an anti-litter measure.

New York City Police In Quest Of Teen-Age 'Dracula'

NEW YORK (AP)—A teen-age "Dracula" was hunted by a vast array of police Tuesday as frantic city and state officials moved to muster every resource in a crackdown on juvenile gangs roaming the sidewalks of New York with jungle savagery.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller voiced alarm over a bloody explosion of viciousness which took the lives of four youths in a week and left a number badly hurt.

Adding to the situation was the fact that, in some ways, the wanton cruelty was worse than that of the machine-gun-wielding underworld mobs of yesterday.

The latest victims were youngsters who had no part in gang feuds. These were Robert Young and Anthony Krzesinski, each 16. They were attacked in a playground on Manhattan's West Side early Sunday by a group of Puerto Ricans who had gone out looking for enemies in a neighborhood tiff.

Chatting With Friends
The two victims, who had been chatting with friends after attending a movie, staggered away to find dead of stab wounds on nearby doorsteps.

Four youngsters were quickly arrested on homicide charges but the one tabbed as the actual killer was described as a cape-clad boy who called himself "Dracula" and led what some called the "Vampire Gang."

The boy was said to have been fascinated by the blood-hungry fictional character Count Dracula.

The nickname of the youthful counterpart was not disclosed by police. But they said he is 18, of Puerto Rican extraction, and may be a sexual deviate, as was believed the case with members of his gang.

Police acknowledged that he had been in their hands as recently as last Friday.

House Passes Proposed Amendment

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House Tuesday night passed a proposed constitutional amendment for a graduated income tax of up to 6 per cent.

The vote was 113-82. It required 106 votes to pass. The measure went to the Senate in surmounting the first hurdle in the long process required to change the Commonwealth's basic law.

Approval is required by both houses at two separate sessions and in a statewide referendum before the Constitution can be amended.

Once again, Republicans helped the Democratic majority to push through the legislation.

The House passed a similar plan Aug. 10, with 16 Republicans voting for it. But the action was recalled for a series of amendments.

The most important change was a provision outwitting state sales tax should a graduated income tax ever be enacted. Other revisions gave clear sailing for a proposal to give tax benefits to amputee veterans.

Rep. Austin Lee (R-Phila.), who led the battle against the constitutional amendment, contended that the revised version did not correct what he termed faults in the bill.

Sales Tax
He took the position that the 4 per cent sales tax that Pennsylvanians now pay would not be affected by the sales tax prohibition in the income tax amendment.

"It is simply a fraud on the people of Pennsylvania," he said.

"It is a political bill for political purposes and political irresponsibility at its greatest," Lee added.

Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, defended the measure as one that depends on the ability to pay. He noted 18 states now impose a statewide income tax.

"When you are unemployed... you have no fear of income taxes," he said. "You don't pay when you don't earn."

House Approves Appropriations
HARRISBURG (AP) — The House Tuesday night approved 149½ million dollars worth of non-preferred appropriations.

The amount includes nearly 62½ million dollars for the four largest universities and their auxiliaries. Pennsylvania State University would get $34,227,335.

Menon May Resign From Defense Post

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon was reported Tuesday to have submitted his resignation as the result of a feud with his military chiefs that flared while Red China threatens Indian territory.

Border trouble with the Chinese Communists gave blockbuster impact to reports the army, navy and air force staff chiefs are resigning and that Menon, controversial former envoy to the U.N., has offered to quit in a squabble over promotions.

High sources in Prime Minister Nehru's ruling Congress party said Menon has placed his letter of resignation in Nehru's hands.

Nehru has stood for years beside this gaunt, gray-haired apostle of nonalignment, often accused of taking a soft approach toward Communist aggression.

Sources close to the residence of President Rajendra Prasad said Nehru possibly will announce a Cabinet shakeup that will leave out Menon or give him another ministerial post. Official confirmation was lacking.

Frontier Operations
Amid the capital's turmoil, fresh advice on frontier operations were published by New Delhi newspapers on the basis of information they said was supplied by informed sources.

The Times of India said Indian forces have attacked Chinese troops near Longlu, where Chinese routed Indian border patrols last week.

The Indian Express said Chinese troops equipped with heavy arms borne by pack mules were massing in Tibet near the border.

A dispatch from Shillong, capital of Assam, published by the Hindustan Times said the Communists have been concentrating troops near the Sang and Lohit sectors since early August.

The Hindustan Times also quoted reports from Katmandu that Chinese troops have been intruding into Nepal.

There was no official confirmation.

"The honorable member (Menon) is here and presumed to have full control over the Defense Ministry," said the Socialist leader, Asik Mehta. "Why doesn't he speak?"

Menon told Parliament he had discussed the situation with Nehru in the morning, but declined to elaborate.

A storm of objections and complaints lasted nearly half an hour, often drowning out the speaker's demands for order. The speaker said Nehru wanted to deal with the reports himself. And Nehru—at the New Delhi airport then for a talk with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan—put off the matter overnight.

A reporter checked Menon later on the report of his resignation and asked him if it was true. "Is that so," Menon responded. "Who said it?"

Committee Sanctions Gasoline Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Public Works Committee Tuesday sanctioned a penny-a-gallon boost in the federal gasoline tax to get the interstate highway program back on a pay-as-you-build basis.

The bill to increase the present three-cent levy for 22 months was approved by a reported vote of 25-6. Five Democrats and one Republican were understood to have voted against it.

At nearly a billion dollars—is calculated to permit construction of the 41,000-mile superhighway network to move ahead at about its present rate.

Rules Committee
The measure—which has President Eisenhower's qualified endorsement—goes now to the House Rules Committee for expected clearance.

Public Works Committee Chairman Charles A. Buckley (D-NY) forecast passage when the House takes up the bill, probably Thursday or Friday.

But Buckley said the measure might be in for trouble in the Senate. There, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) opposes a plan in the gas tax.

Don't Waste Time

By William A. Doyle
International Investment Analyst

Q. I became interested in a certain company because, in my line of work, I often use their products. I asked my broker for information about the company and received the following typewritten reply: "There is no statistical information available. Apparently this is a privately owned company."

Don't I have the right to expect my broker to dig a little deeper for information? Would it be any use to ask another broker? I am still curious about the company.

A. No, you don't have any "right" to expect your broker to knock himself out digging for information that isn't available. Let's assume that the broker tried to find out about the company and couldn't. If the stock is available to the public, it's a safe bet that he would have found out about it and would have been happy to provide the information.

After all, if he had come up with that kind of information, you might have bought some stock and he would have picked ed up a commission. That's what he's in business for.

But, if the company is privately owned, there's no point in him wasting his time.

Maybe you don't realize it, but many brokerage firms won't even go to this much trouble for a customer. Some firms still work on the theory that they only execute buy and sell orders. They don't provide research or anything such as that.

If you doubt your broker's word, you can check through the statistical manuals (Standard & Poor's, Fitch's and Moody's) next time you are in his office.

Go to another broker if you like. But it's doubtful that any brokerage firm is going to take on a big research job for a stranger—unless you show promise of being a big customer.

Q. Is it possible to transfer stocks I own to my wife's name in some simple way? My broker tells me I must sell the stocks and have my wife buy them back. He says I would have to pay commissions on the sale and my wife would have to pay commissions on the purchase.

Perhaps you have a better suggestion.

A. Indeed I do. Change brokers. Some of them are shamefully commission-hungry. That's evidently why this question comes up so often.

You can transfer those stocks with little or no problem.

Sign the stock certificates on the back. Have your signature guaranteed by a banker or a broker. Take or mail the certificates to the transfer agent to issue new certificates in your wife's name. Pay any transfer fees or other small taxes and you're all set.

If there is not too much money value involved, the transfer will probably not even be subject to gift taxes.

Q. I am aghast and fearful of the position we are in. My husband is 56 and can't seem to quit taking chances in the stock market. We own stocks in 10 different companies. Six of the issues are terrible speculations—purchased at prices from 25 cents to $2 a share.

I say sell all that speculative stock, even at a loss, and put the money in high-quality stocks. What do you say?

A. That you are 100 percent right and that your husband is dead wrong. But, if you can't convince him, it's doubtful that I can—except to add that, at 56, it may be later than he thinks.

Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Group Of Injured Treated At Dispensary In Hospital

KIM EDWARDS, 12, Pen Argyl, was treated at Monroe County General Hospital Dispensary for a cut foot. He stepped on a piece of glass in the bottom of a boat. No injury to the nerves or tendon was found.

Madeline Schwab, age eight, New Milford, N. J., pushed a hand through a window. The dispensary used 15 stitches to close the cut on her right arm and advised taking aspirin every three or four hours to stop the pain.

Diane Foye, 17, Philadelphia, fell on a rock and cut her right foot. The dispensary sewed it up with six stitches.

Irene Occhipinti, 29, Dunmore, burned her left fingers when she picked up the lid of a hot Dutch oven. She suffered redness and second degree burns. The dispensary covered her fingers with vaseline gauze.

Charles Wagner, 67, Brooklyn, N. Y., came to the dispensary with pain in his wrist after he fell on his outstretched right hand. X-rays showed a fracture. A cylinder cast was applied from below the elbow to the knuckles. The blood circulation was reported as good.

Thomas Lens, 10, Long Island, was accidentally struck on the right brow by a bat. Two stitches were needed.

How to Profit Through Tax Exemption

With today's high tax levels, investors in medium and high tax brackets are turning to tax-free Municipal Bonds for income that they can keep.

If you have a taxable income of $10,000 or more, you may be well repaid by investigating the advantages of tax-exempt State and Municipal Bonds. For instance, if you file a single return on a taxable income of $14,000, you would have to receive a dividend return of 7.45% on a taxable security in order to equal the yield from a 3.50% tax-free Bond. It's something to think about!

Our New Booklet, "How To Profit Through Tax Exemption" explains in plain language your need for tax exemption, tells how much these high-grade investments can be worth to you. There's no obligation. Send for copy today.

Diplomatic Venture

President Eisenhower's 10-day swing through key Western capitals tends to emphasize how much the burden of world peace rests on the shoulders of one man.

His European travels are a prelude to meeting Russian Premier Khrushchev in Washington this month. They suggest that he is putting tremendous reliance on personal diplomacy as the means of easing world tensions.

In his personal meeting with the heads of cooperating governments, the President is seeking to enlist their full support for the policies that will later get attention in conversations with Mr. Khrushchev. He is thus trying during his tour to produce unity among friendly but often bickering allies.

While Mr. Eisenhower has not engaged conspicuously as President in direct negotiations with heads of other governments, it is to be remembered that personal diplomacy is not new to him.

His pre-presidential reputation was founded in considerable part upon his display of diplomatic talent, both as wartime Allied commander and as chief of NATO.

He is the man who managed to get results during World War Two, notwithstanding the sometimes sharply clashing viewpoints of Western leaders. And he welded NATO into the first multi-nation defense force established in time of peace.

Now, with the full force of the Presidency behind him, let us hope his present venture into personal diplomacy will pay off in world peace.

New Industry

In these trying days of a national steel strike, it is heartening to note that new industries still are finding their way into Pennsylvania.

Fifty-two new manufacturing plants came into being in the first six months of 1959. Of these, 27 involve the construction of new facilities and 25 are taking over factory buildings once occupied by other industries.

Nine major steel projects are among expansions undertaken by 54 Pennsylvania firms.

The new and expanded facilities will create upward of 9,000 new jobs — only a drop in the state's great labor pool but a welcome addition nonetheless.

In the bigness of steel, coal, aluminum and other industrial giants, we sometimes lose sight of the importance of small businesses.

Ninety-five per cent of all firms in Pennsylvania employ fewer than 50 persons. It is they who sustain our economy when the mills and mines shut down.

Pay Minimum For Men

(Columnist Mason Denison is on vacation. Top-ranking state officials are serving as "guest columnists" during his absence. Guest columnist today is Pennsylvania's secretary of Labor and Industry William L. Batt, Jr.)

By William L. Batt, Jr.
State Secretary of Labor and Industry

Harrisburg — I appreciate this invitation to serve as guest columnist for Mason Denison.

It provides a splendid opportunity to underscore points important to every working man and woman in Pennsylvania.

To put it simply: Everyone knows he has a right to the wages he works for and earns, but—

Suppose you are so unlucky

as to have an employer who keeps saying "next week, next week," and the back wages owed you run up to $100, $200 and more?

Can you go to your state labor department and say "I need your help please, in legal action to collect those wages?" Yes—if you lived in New Jersey or in New York or in any one of 16 other states. Legislatures in those states have put this responsibility on their respective departments of labor.

In Pennsylvania? Believe it or not, the answer is—no. Perhaps the picture will be changed soon though.

Legislation has been introduced in this session of the Legislature that would add Pennsylvania to the list of states that require regular and prompt payment of wages to workers and make it a responsibility to the Labor Department to act in behalf of the employee to collect.

Stop-payment check and evasive employers aren't the only wage problems that workers bring to me as Pennsylvania's Secretary of Labor and Industry.

It is the wages themselves. You would be surprised to hear how many men in hotels, restaurants, construction and other businesses come to ask what the minimum wage is for their work.

It doesn't make sense to them that they are getting only 65 cents an hour for store clerking, 27 cents for dishwashing, 58 cents as gas station attendant, or 68 cents as a cook.

They are not alone in thinking there is a minimum wage of a dollar an hour for everyone, but actually there is no such law. The Federal wage and hour law does not apply to workers in retail and service jobs.

Pennsylvania's present minimum wage law applies only to women and to minors. It gives protection only after a minimum wage board recommends a wage for a particular occupation or industry and the Secretary of Labor and Industry issues the order.

I think it is well worth noting that in two years I have issued five minimum wage orders covering 350,000 women and minors, after a 20 year neglect of the law.

The basic rates range from 75 cents to $1 an hour. They cover work in stores, restaurants, hotels, motels and laundries. This however does not do the complete job.

Not enough occupations are covered and some of the minimums are not sufficient for many of the women and minors who are covered by the orders. Men are not covered at all.

Along this line—the administration has introduced legislation in the current legislative session that would provide a new minimum wage law to cover men as well as women and provide a minimum of $1 an hour outright.

I think it is very important to note that Pennsylvania's Department of Labor and Industry was set up to deal with workers' problems and enforce labor laws for fair working conditions.

And yet—at the same time it is serving workers it is also protecting employers who pay fair wages, from the unfair competition of those few who try to shave costs by paying low wages or dodging payday obligations to those they have hired.

Pennsylvania is a big industrial state. We have a big and responsible job to do.

Trials Of Peace

It is easier to make war than peace. A loss of temper by a dictator, the shot of an assassin, the violation of an agreement can produce and even a smaller event have produced wars, some of which were of great consequence in history.

To make peace and to keep the peace requires the meeting of many unsuspicious and willing minds on complex subjects. Involved are psychological factors such as fears of the consequences of error of judgment, long-time traditions, varieties of habit of thought, man's love for trading and bargaining, domestic public opinion, the craving for popularity, the hunger for historic fame and all sorts of remote and often undiscernible factors.

Peace has been in the making since 1945; that is a period of 14 years during which there have been meetings, conferences, long airplane trips by outstanding statesmen, civil wars, violent propaganda, murder, rapine and speeches—endless speeches.

During this period, the United Nations was born, became a vent for violent tempers and harsh and untruthful language. But most of the substantial negotiating has gone on day by day through the ordinary channels of diplomacy and in separate conferences among smaller groups of nations.

During this 14-year period of no war no peace, that has come to be known as the Cold War, contradictory trends appeared throughout the world and some of these trends contained within themselves the seeds of prospective wars.

These contradictory and conflicting trends may be defined as follows:

1. The emergence of the empires of Soviet Russia, Red China and the Arab states;
2. The decline of the Dutch, British and French empires;
3. The new colonialism developed by Soviet Russia and Red China which goes by the term, satellite states, devised by Treitschke;
4. The breakdown of British

United Nations — Sept. 21—Seven cent air mail envelope (two sizes standard 35/8 by 6 1/4 inches) and legal size (4 1/4 by 9 1/4 inches) and five cent air mail postal card. In order to secure first day of issue cancellations on these, here are the instructions:

The seven cent envelope must be ordered in groups of three cost eight cents each plus four cent postage for each three ordered, also a self addressed envelope large enough to hold them must also be enclosed, as the U. N. will not address them to individuals.

The five cent air mail postal card must be ordered in groups of five and these sell for face value of five cents each plus four cents postage on each five ordered, and again a self-addressed envelope must be enclosed.

If your total order is over $5 then you must include the registration fee with your remittance. In order to facilitate handling you may combine your order for the envelopes and cards together and send to the United Nations Postal Administration Room 1-B-1, United Nations, New York.

Incidentally, no stamps will be used on the return envelopes only meter cancellations. If unused copies of these are wanted the same procedure must be followed except you must address it to Room 2010. The outside envelope should be plainly marked "first day covers" or "mint envelopes and post cards."

The United Nations announces that the next commemorative issue will honor the Trusteeship Council and will be issued Oct. 23, United Nations Day, which has been traditionally observed Oct. 24, falls this year on a Saturday and the United Nations officials feel that Saturday is not a good day for a first day sale of a commemorative issue, thus the Oct. 23 date.

End Of Postal Career Appears

Yesterday was a special day for Charley Van Syckle, of 666 S. High St., Bangor. He will finally get a rest.

Charley called it quits after 35 years and nine months as a mailman in Bangor. At last he is going to give those aching feet a much deserved rest.

He began his career with the post office on Nov. 13, 1923, when he was named a substitute carrier. The late Whitfield Pritchard was postmaster in Bangor at that time.

Charley was named a regular letter carrier on March 1, 1936.

For the past 23 years Van Syckle has served the same route. It consists of Bangors main business section and all of South Bangor.

Charley said that his job has been uneventful down through the years, but does admit that he has run into his share of biting dogs.

Although yesterday was officially Charley's day of retirement, he actually quit work early in the Summer when he became ill.

Charley is feeling much better now and is currently vacationing with Mrs. Van Syckle in St. Louis.

The Allen-Scott Report

Union Funds Misspent

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington — The Senate Labor Rackets Committee is shortly issuing another of its scathing reports that will charge Maurice H. Hutcheson, head of the Carpenters, with mispending more than $800,000 of union funds.

In two other reports being prepared for later publication, the Senate investigators will brand as gangster-ridden and irresponsible the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union of Chicago, the Restaurant Association of that city, and the "linen and coverall supply industry" of Detroit.

All these blistering findings and official castigations are based on evidence and testimony obtained by the Committee in comprehensive probes. They will be recorded in detail in the forthcoming reports.

The Carpenters report will also blast another high official for misusing union funds—Charles Johnson, Jr., former executive board member.

(1) "Being involved with a shrewd confidence man . . . to whom he turned over some $319,000 in Carpenters funds, with noticeably little return."

(2) "Another $310,000 went . . . for the production of a biography of Hutcheson's father, the late William L. Hutcheson, former president of the Carpenters . . . The facts clearly established that Maxwell C. Raddock was paid some $200,000 for his work and that, further, even though he paid some $50,000 for research and writing, he heavily plagiarized huge sections of the book from other more knowledgeable authors."

Johnson is singled out in the report for the following:

(1) "Johnson, his two brothers and a son, received in three years from the union, $448,000 in salary and expenses, in addition to money from three large construction firms with which the Carpenters have bargaining agreements."

(2) "The Yonkers Raceway. We stashed $30,000 in the County, N. Y., paid Johnson $30,000 for settling a dispute involving the Carpenters."

Similarly, the Senate investigators will pull no punches in excoriating both the Restaurant Association and Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union of Chicago.

"The association collected over $1 million from its members," the committee report will charge, "and used that money principally as a slush fund for placating racketeers and purchasing labor peace. Part of the money went to Abraham Teitelbaum, the association's labor counsel, who employed underworld figures as 'labor experts' . . . Teitelbaum was known to have been associated with leaders of the crime syndicate."

The Hotel and Restaurant Union will be flatly labeled as hoodlum-controlled.

"This Employees Union," the report will state, "served only the purpose of giving a cloak of legitimacy to what was nothing more than a pure extortion racket."

The Detroit report will be no less unsparring as follows:

"The linen and coverall supply industry in Detroit is another example of gangster infiltration into business enterprise . . . One company particularly is a major offender . . . It is backed by some of the most notorious figures of the Detroit underworld . . . An ex-convict and Teamster business agent is the central figure in this company."

More Red Infiltration — Communist China is spreading its tentacles into Latin America.

Peiping propaganda and trade are sharply increasing throughout the Southern Hemisphere.

That's what the State Department has informed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a special report on this startling development. Highlights of this still unpublished survey are as follows:

"Communist China sharply increased both its propaganda and its trade in Latin America. A total of 159 Latin American legislators, doctors, students and women leaders visited Red China in the first half of 1959—three times the 1958 rate of such visits."

"Other cultural contacts also expanded. There was a continued increase, for example, in the formation of Communist Chinese-Latin American 'friendship societies' now numbering 18 in five countries. Radio Peiping broadcast 14 hours a week in Spanish to the area, compared to seven hours at the beginning of 1958."

"The general Communist powers coupled propaganda on their economic well-being with well-publicized trade arrangements and loans to non-Communist countries. They repeatedly called attention to the speed with which they put these arrangements into effect, pointing a disparaging finger at the allegedly slower implementation of American economic and technical assistance programs."

Dear Abby: My daughter is being married soon and before I announce her engagement I would like some advice. Our town has a habit of putting on huge showers for brides. Four or five women get together and invite everybody in town whether they know the bride or not. In my opinion it is just a racket to collect as many gifts as possible. When the wedding and reception list is made up, many of the guests are the same women who have brought a gift to the showers. How can I get it across to my friends that I do not care for this wholesale kind of affair?

Dear Mother, Inform any friends who offer to give a shower for your daughter that you prefer they do not for the above-mentioned reason, which is as sensible as any could be. People are pretty sick of being soaked at showers.

SECOND CHOICE.

Dear Second: Don't jump to any hasty conclusions. "Home" to most people is the town they've grown up in. It's simply habit and doesn't indicate that your husband feels more "at home" with his mother than he does with you. Remove that chip from your shoulder.

East Stroudsburg Council To Oppose Nuisance In Borough

Residents File Petition Against Firm

EAST Stroudsburg Borough Council last night authorized solicitor C. R. Bensinger to take whatever action necessary to abate a nuisance created by Welco Industries, Inc.

The action came after a petition bearing the signatures of 26 residents of the area near the plant at 250 Harris St. was presented charging that discharges of burnt sawdust in "enormous quantities" are covering the neighborhood.

The petitioners charged that they had filed complaints with the company but that the firm paid "no heed or attention" to the complaints and that the discharge is now worse than before the complaints were made. The petition urged council action to abate the condition "without the petitioners having to resort to the trouble or expense of bringing lawsuits" against the firm to have the nuisance abated.

Ordinances
Bensinger said he felt that borough ordinances probably cover the situation.

Paul Dellaria, speaking for the Central Labor Union, asked restoration of parking places in the vicinity of the CLU Club in view of the heavy schedule of union meetings coming up.

Burgess Jesse R. S. Flory told Dellaria that when Washington St. is reopened, which is expected in the next few days, two-way parking will be put into effect once more on S. Courtland St. in front of the club.

In other action, Council: Endorsed the Senior Citizens Club being founded by the CLU so that the group may qualify for state funds for specific activities.

Authorized advertisement of the sale of $32,000 worth of general bonds with bids to be accepted at the Oct. 6 meeting. The bonds, in $1,000 denomination, would be paid off at the rate of $2,000 yearly.

Took no action on complaints by Mrs. Leona Mary and John Pellencier, King St., that the state highway there is too high, causing water to flow over their sidewalks and washing out fill. Council promised cooperation and suggested that the complaints be referred to the State Highways Department.

Granted driveway permits to Courtland Novelty Co., Chestnut St., and C. C. Frantz, Prospect St.

Designated Sept. 23, 24 and 25 as Fall clean up and collection days.

Heard a report by Sterling Cramer, borough manager, that the Fall meeting of the Mid-Eastern Counties Assn. of Boroughs will be held at Blue Ridge Country Club, Palmerton, on Sept. 25. A panel discussion on the Bucks County Health Department will be featured.

East Borough Playground Sets Record

THE East Stroudsburg Playground had a record attendance of 700 persons on June 29, Borough Council was told last night.

The annual report showed receipts of $1,444.75 for the year, including $727 from children, $429 from juniors and $288.75 from adults.

Average Attendance
The average daily attendance on the playground was 150 persons, 30 were enrolled in arts and crafts daily, 20 participated in active games daily, 50 in quiet games, 50 in the track meet, 40 in the doll parade and there were 18 large scheduled picnics.

Attendance totaled 5,315 in June, 9,565 in July and 5,105 in August for an overall figure of 19,985.

Eighty-four persons attended beginners swimming classes, 23 intermediate swimming classes, 12 junior life saving classes and 10 senior life saving classes.

Laurel Manor Fund Passes Halfway Mark

THE capital funds campaign to raise $50,000 for Laurel Manor, the county's home for senior citizens, passed the halfway mark last night at a report meeting held at Wyckoff's Tearoom.

New pledges turned in by the sponsors present raised the total amount subscribed to $23,300. This, when added to the contingency fund pledged by Kresge Foundation, boosted the overall figure to $28,300.

Spencer C. Cramer, co-chairman, emphasized that the most difficult part of the campaign lies ahead and urged all sponsors to complete their solicitations in advance of Sept. 15, the date scheduled to close the drive.

Cramer and Mrs. Frank S. LaBar, the other co-chairman, stressed anew that the campaign is for capital funds to pay off the indebtedness of Laurel Manor and make certain necessary improvements to the home. None of the money being raised will be used for operating expenses, the two leaders pointed out.

Cramer noted that the home serves a segment of the population which is not organized under one leadership and therefore has no lobby to pressure legislators for help on behalf of the aged.

Today's senior citizens are yesterday's pioneers, he said, and without their efforts we would not have the benefits we do now.

"We would be remiss in our duty to these people if we did not clear the indebtedness against Laurel Manor and put the home on a good, solid foundation financially," Cramer concluded in his appeal to the sponsors to "beat the drums" and put the drive over the top.

In the absence of E. H. Wyckoff, president of the Monroe County Home Assn., last night's meeting was conducted by G. L. Smrz, vice president.

In noting that few communities the size of Monroe County are engaged in providing a home for the aging, Smrz predicted that many more will be forced to do so in future years, or else the federal or state government will have to do it for them.

He paid tribute to the Business and Professional Women's Club for conceiving the idea for Laurel Manor and observed that "we have made a good start, let's finish the job."

Companionship in old age, the feeling of being wanted, is one of the finest things we have to offer in Laurel Manor, said Smrz. "We have a worthy cause, one that should be easy to sell to the public if we will only try. All of us should push and drive every day until our goal is reached," he declared.

The report meeting followed a dinner at which the sponsors were guests of Wyckoff.

RONALD GOUGHER, 18, of 1505 Wallace St., Stroudsburg, who delivered The Daily Record for six and one-half years, left yesterday for Lackland, Tex., for four weeks of air force basic training.

Now employed by Hughes Printing Co., East Stroudsburg, he will go on to four years study at an electronic school.

Ronnie delivered The Daily Record on Stroudsburg Route 110, which included Avenues C, E, F, 1200-1500 Wallace St., Shook Ave. and Appenzeller Ave.

He has trained Billy and Edward Yost, 1305 N. 5th St., to take over his area.

A graduate of Stroud Union High School last June, Ronnie was a member of the Math Club, participated in the Jaycee Driving Road-E-O, and placed third in the school science fair with a project on an electronic magnetic rocket launcher.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Gougher.

Council To Seek Limit On Thruway

EAST Stroudsburg Borough Council last night voted to request the State Highway Department to limit traffic on the first stage of the Stroudsburg Thruway until the whole project is completed.

Council's request is that the Thruway be not opened beyond the Miniskin Interchange until the Stroudsburg section is completed.

Reasoning
Council pointed out that streets to and from the Prospect St. interchange will not be adequate to care for traffic which would normally go through Stroudsburg. The first phase of the Thruway—which will take through Route 611 traffic around the two boroughs—is nearing completion. There has been no indication when work on the second section will start.

That happy voting time of year is here again! Time for you to elect
MISS RHEINGOLD 1960!

Choose your favorite candidate—vote for her today at any Rheingold store or tavern

Meet the six lovely young hopefuls—your candidates for the title of Miss Rheingold 1960. These happy finalists were chosen last spring from hundreds of the prettiest girls in New York, Boston and California—by a panel of famous judges.

Here are a few of the judges who selected this year's candidates: Bob Cummings, Stevan Dohanos, Irene Dunne, Jinx Falkenburg, Mona Freeman, Art Linkletter, Guy Lombardo, Terry Moore, Rosalind Russell, Leonard Sillman and Jon Whitcomb.

Now it's up to you to name the one winner! With six such pretty candidates in the running, the 1960 Miss Rheingold Election promises to be a close one indeed. That's why each and every ballot is important. Your vote and the votes of your friends could very well carry your candidate to fame and fortune.

$50,000 contract for the girl you elect! The lucky girl who wins the Miss Rheingold title not only wins a year's contract worth $50,000. She'll also enjoy a world of wonderful traveling—and go on to fame as the most photographed girl in town.

Join the fun, vote today! Over 40,000 convenient "polls"! Get in on the fun and excitement of America's second-largest election! Pick the candidate you like best right now. Then vote for her today or any day through October 3. You'll find the colorful Election Ballot Box awaiting you at Rheingold dealers everywhere.

Every vote counts—every vote is counted by an impartial research organization. So the decision is entirely yours. Now, on to the polls to support your candidate!

In all America, there's nothing quite like the Miss Rheingold Election. Just as there's nothing like the satisfying, true-beer taste of the beer itself—refreshing Rheingold Extra Dry. Most people agree—which is why Rheingold is New York's largest-selling beer, and the most imitated beer in America.

Intensive Study To Be Conducted On Youth Of Monroe County During Next Few Weeks

MONROE County children and youth will be the subject of an intensive study in the next few weeks.

Every aspect of their lives, from religion and employment to recreation and education will be examined and evaluated by a county forum which drew up a plan of procedure yesterday.

Meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, 51 persons heard Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr., County coordinator for the March White House Conference on Children and Youth, say:

"Your interest in being here proves that Monroe County does care very deeply for its most valuable asset—its children."

Mrs. Samuel C. Wells III, chairman of the sub-committee on strengthening family life, said her group will study parental counseling or education, housing, economic status, encouragement of religious life and recreation.

Mrs. Jeanne R. S. Flory announced that her sub-committee on dependent, neglected and delinquent children and youth will split in two sections, with one devoted to the study of delinquency alone.

Dr. John A. Abbruzzese Jr. said he would deploy individual workers to gather information on the education, recreation and employment of children and youth, including the mentally retarded and physically handicapped.

Dr. Mary T. Hunsicker said she will divide her sub-committee on physical and mental health of children and youth into two groups for a closer study of each topic.

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, chairman of the group preparing a review and preview, 1950-1970, called for study emphasis on the healthy as well as the underprivileged side of

"Members of the union now attending off-the-job meetings in the Scranton and Reading Districts are creating a needless work stoppage involving inconvenience to the public and loss of wages without regard to the existing provisions of the contract which has 11 months to run until termination."

"Since this contract implies that both parties to it have an obligation to prevent such work stoppages the company has offered to meet with the union Tuesday (yesterday) in an effort to arrive at a satisfactory solution to the case."

"On Friday, Aug. 28, in order to hasten the settlement of this issue, the company waived contract requirements for further meetings and formally requested arbitration."

"It should be understood that in central Pennsylvania there is no grievance of any kind between the union and

"The union, however, subsequently insisted that a meeting with the general plant managers first had to be held to attempt to resolve the dispute before considering arbitration. The company asked that this meeting be held on Tuesday, Sept. 1, to which the union agreed."

"It is again emphasized that the company believes the interests of employees and the public can best be served if work is resumed while this matter is being processed."

At midday Paul Yager, a federal mediator, and Robert Thompson, a state mediator, joined the conference of union and company representatives in Philadelphia. The conference continued into the night.

Many of the idle employees attended mass meetings to learn the details of the dispute, union spokesmen said.

SEE... FEEL... TASTE THE DIFFERENCE!

Just Between Us —

—by Bobby Westbrook

People can tell you and tell you how it's going to be but you never really believe a thing until it happens to you. Every young mother, I suppose, has been told by an older mother, indulgently:

"Just wait. When they're little you have little problems and when they're big, you have big problems." But the trouble is that little problems can seem mighty big at the time, and it's difficult to imagine how much more hectic things could get.

Last Spring, moving home the paraphernalia that a daughter can collect during four college years, she kept comforting me with the thought that this was the last time we'd be doing this.

What she forgot to add was that next time she'd be moving into an apartment of her own and that it would take two cars to transport the stuff that she absolutely had to have, even in a furnished apartment.

I suppose every mother whose fledgling has left the nest comes home with an empty feeling—and, if they're honest, not only because of the absence of the child but also the absence of an awful lot of household equipment which she somehow convinced them that she needed more than they did.

Yet there is a somewhat wry reassurance in the fact that while they may take the color mixer and bowls, they leave their term papers and scrap books; that in the place of your best tea towels they've left their gym suits and winter clothes.

Gives you the notion they'll be back—if only for another load of blankets and your silver tea service.

All of which seemed pretty hilarious until in the midst of writing about it, I had a phone call from Vi Motta at Red Cross, telling about a mother who had no furniture at all. Sort of sobered me up with the thought that while they don't even have a table, I'll have five dining room chairs which nobody will be sitting on for quite some time.

I hope she gets her furniture, and that it includes a rocking chair for rocking the baby in. And I hope nobody tells her that "When they're little, you have little troubles—"

Ellisons Entertain Church Group

Swiftwater — Mr. and Mrs. Halstead Ellison who have spent eight years in the Orient were hosts to a large group from St. Paul's United Church of Christ, East Swiftwater at Denbigh Day Camp.

The Ellisons had arranged a display of woodcarvings, curios, paintings, clothing, jewelry, teakwood tables and chairs and other articles from the Orient. As they described each piece and told of its place in Oriental life, their guests gained understanding of the countries which the articles represented.

The women of the group were particularly interested in the missionary work, schools, and the foods and their preparation. The men found the woodcarvings, Japanese swords and art of special interest.

The gathering at the camp was preceded by a meeting of the Women's Guild at the church with a worship hour led by Mrs. Walter Davis. A brief business meeting was held with Mrs. Edward Metzger presiding before they motored to the camp.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kresge, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Neiring, Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Meisner, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rinker, Mrs. Elwood Warner, Mrs. Sheldon Kresge and daughter, Mrs. Edward Metzger and daughters, Mrs. George Hahn, Mrs. Lewis Heckman, Mrs. Harry Heller, Miss Laura Steiler and Mrs. Richard Leis.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Davis and Mrs. Lewis Heckman.

County PTA Council Board Meets

Officers and committee chairmen of the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers will meet at the home of the president, Russell Pritchard, 1714 North Fifth St., Stroudsburg on Thursday night at 8 p.m.

They will plan activities for the coming year. The County Council is composed of all unit PTAs in the county and holds its meetings at different schools in the county throughout the winter months.

The council is a member of the state and national Parent and Teachers Assn., and members of the board are trained to assist local PTAs in promoting better relations between schools, parents and pupils.

Artist Must 'Dig Up' Markets For Services

By Anne Heywood

If you are not a born beauty, you have to spend a lot more time and attention on grooming and clothes than if you are a born beauty. By the same token, if you have a talent which is not very marketable, you have to devote more time and attention to merchandising it than you would, say, if you are an expert secretary.

This is especially true of art.

Bitter Letters
Women who are good at painting, sketching and the other graphic arts occasionally write me very bitter letters about how impossible it is to find a market for their wares and services.

These letters can verge from mild complaints to bitter indictments of the public at large as "a bunch of ignorant peasants who don't appreciate art." This energy spent in deploring the lack of a market ought properly to be turned toward digging up—or, if necessary, creating—a market.

Need of Beauty

After all, there are lots of things in our lives that could be enhanced by the addition of a little beauty, and it seems to me that, if I were a painter, I'd make it my business to dig them up.

I know a woman, for example, who noticed that the tea room where she ate occasionally had old and none too spotless menus, to which were clipped each day the typewritten special for the day.

Did Twenty Covers

She did twenty attractive covers (it was a small tea room with just twenty tables) with a local scene in colors blending with the tea room. It wasn't magnificent art, but it just took her a few hours.

She treated the covers with some kind of spray so they could be wiped clean and took them in to the tea room.

"I offered them for fifty cents each," she told me, "but I was prepared to give them away if need be. It would be pleasant to eat at a place which had attractive-looking menus."

Barrett Republicans To Meet

Barrett — A meeting of the Barrett Twp. Council of Republican Women was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Swaine on August 24. Plans for the coming season were discussed.

The next meeting will be a covered dish supper to be held at Naomi Cottages on September 15 at 6 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

The Wyckoff Shopper

Our center aisle is always interesting, at Wyckoff's.

But it seemed particularly so on Monday, thanks to some newly arrived merchandise and some very excellent bargains.

The most conspicuous of the bargains, I imagine, was the silverplate by William Rogers. Maybe it's because I'm a woman... maybe it's just because it was so shiny, and so lovely. But I would guess that anyone could search from now until the crack of doom and not find a better buy for her money. Both of these sets are heavily silverplated, and reinforced with additional silver blocks at points of wear.

One is the Lady Fair pattern—service for eight specially priced at 29.95 with an extra 6.00 for the lovely green-lined case. The other pattern is Woodland Rose—encased in dark wood lined in brilliant red. Regular price of this, in service for eight, is 79.95. Right now the price, including the chest, is 39.95.

Either of these sets would be a wonderful wedding gift for the recent bride, or a Christmas or shower gift for the gal still in the hopeful stage.

Another silver value that has been delighting homemakers offers six gracefully designed grapefruit spoons with serrated tip at 1.98. The contemporary styling is so simple it will blend with anything you already own in silver or china, the only decoration being a wee bit of engraving that resembles tiny stars, or snowflakes. So pretty and inexpensive are these, whether or not you like grapefruit and melons, you're tempted to serve them.

New in our candy department are unusually lovely metal boxes filled with an assortment of Sharps English toffees—the same candies featured in our recent, very successful candy promotion. The boxes are of heavy tinware—the type for which the English are noted—in an embossed design of rich black, white and gold with delicate touches of pink. The lid has a rolled edge that fits with vacuum-tight perfection to keep the candies fresh and delicious. Box and candy, weighing more than one pound, retail for 1.59.

If you remember our columns from the time of the Sharps promotion, you will recall that this is the toffee you can eat freely even while wearing full dentures or partial plates. It is smooth, mellow, and melts in your mouth. Each piece is double-wrapped to insure permanent freshness... and the pieces are a very desirable, convenient size. For SHARPS gifts, and one that will be appreciated by wife, sweetheart, or weekend hostess, see these English imports.

In our candy department you will also find gift packages of 100% pure maple sugar boxed along with tiny containers of maple butter and small bottles of maple syrup, at 50c—so inexpensive you look twice at the sign to be sure your eyes aren't playing tricks... Popular too are the large gold and white canisters of hard and filled candies by Mrs. Stevens, at 1.75. Stix 'n Snax, she calls 'em. We call 'em "delicious"... Young customers love the Candy cupboard lollipops priced at 29c a dozen. Flavors are Lime, Wild Cherry, Butterscotch, Peanut Carmel, Lemon, Orange, and Chocolate. These are the easiest way we know of getting all "stuck up" with GOOD reason.

Republican Women To Plan Luncheon

The Monroe Council of Republican Women will outline their part in entertaining the Northeast District Republicans at a luncheon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel in Stroudsburg on September 17 when the Political Activities Workshop will be held.

The plans will be made at the September meeting of the local council on Wednesday, September 9 at 2:15 p.m. at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. This is the first Fall meeting. Reports will be given on the summer picnic meetings.

Details will be explained about the essay contest "Why I am a Republican" sponsored by the state council with Mrs. B. Claire Jones, chairman, and Mrs. Nolan Benne Jr., vice chairman. Prize for essays will be awarded at the convention in Harrisburg.

Reports will also be given of the state membership drive, and a legislative review.

Mrs. W. Adolph Rake, president, will preside at the meeting and at the executive board meeting at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. John D. Becker is hostess chairman.

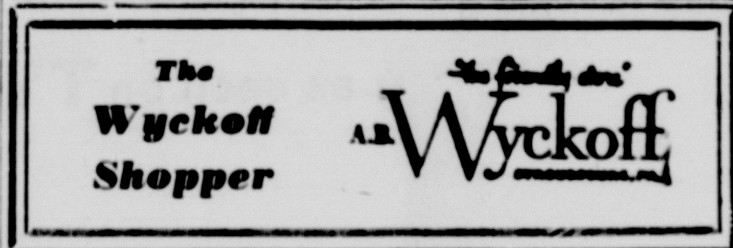

Democratic State Board Meets Today

Harrisburg — The executive board of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women, meeting today in Harrisburg, will review progress reports on the current campaign for increasing voter registration among Pennsylvania women.

The board, including regional directors, will also arrange for the Women's Local Election Campaign Schools to be held in nine different regions of Pennsylvania during the month of September.

In the eastern part of the states the schools will be held in Scranton, September 9, at 10:30 a.m. at the Hotel Casey; at Eagles Mere Park September 9, at 7:30 p.m. at Forest Inn.

Our center aisle is always interesting, at Wyckoff's. But it seemed particularly so on Monday, thanks to some newly arrived merchandise and some very excellent bargains.

The most conspicuous of the bargains, I imagine, was the silverplate by William Rogers. Maybe it's because I'm a woman... maybe it's just because it was so shiny, and so lovely. But I would guess that anyone could search from now until the crack of doom and not find a better buy for her money. Both of these sets are heavily silverplated, and reinforced with additional silver blocks at points of wear.

One is the Lady Fair pattern—service for eight specially priced at 29.95 with an extra 6.00 for the lovely green-lined case. The other pattern is Woodland Rose—encased in dark wood lined in brilliant red. Regular price of this, in service for eight, is 79.95. Right now the price, including the chest, is 39.95.

Either of these sets would be a wonderful wedding gift for the recent bride, or a Christmas or shower gift for the gal still in the hopeful stage.

Another silver value that has been delighting homemakers offers six gracefully designed grapefruit spoons with serrated tip at 1.98. The contemporary styling is so simple it will blend with anything you already own in silver or china, the only decoration being a wee bit of engraving that resembles tiny stars, or snowflakes. So pretty and inexpensive are these, whether or not you like grapefruit and melons, you're tempted to serve them.

New in our candy department are unusually lovely metal boxes filled with an assortment of Sharps English toffees—the same candies featured in our recent, very successful candy promotion. The boxes are of heavy tinware—the type for which the English are noted—in an embossed design of rich black, white and gold with delicate touches of pink. The lid has a rolled edge that fits with vacuum-tight perfection to keep the candies fresh and delicious. Box and candy, weighing more than one pound, retail for 1.59.

'Diary Of Anne Frank'

Drama Of Courage On Pocono Playhouse Stage

By Keith Edinger
MOUNTAINHOME—A true drama of warmth and courage, played against the background of Nazi occupied Holland was presented Monday night at Pocono Playhouse.

"The Diary of Anne Frank", starring Ludwig Donath, Lilla Skala and Renee Haffner, is the moving story of eight Jews and their efforts to survive the Nazi onslaught against the Jews.

"Diary" is based on a diary found in the attic of an office building where these eight refugees were hidden for over two-and-a-half years — their only contact with outside being two sympathetic Hollanders who brought them food and supplies.

The diary tells of their courage, their weakness, their tension and their fears — the ever constant gnawing fear that they would be discovered by the Nazis and be removed to a concentration camp — which meant almost certain death for a Jew.

Their quarters were cramped, the food was very meager, they were not allowed to make a sound between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., nor were they permitted to run water or use the bathroom.

The mounting tensions and fears afford many a dramatic scene and surprisingly enough, a good deal of humor . . . but the message throughout the play is the ever shining faith in mankind. The fact that Anne Frank, her family and the people that were subjected to hiding and fearing for their very lives — were finally discovered by the Nazis and hauled off to concentration camps and eventually all killed with the exception of Mr. Frank—despite all this, young Anne Frank could still write in the last pages of her diary that she still believed in the goodness of man.

In contrast to Anne's feelings is her father who returns home after the war an embittered old man, but after reading Anne's sentiments, feels a shame within himself.

The first act of the play seemed to lack a dramatic force and an absence of intensity one would ordinarily look for in a story such as this. It seemed to be almost too humorous in parts and in places where there should have been more strain it was slightly amiss.

However, the second act picked-up pace—and the strain of the characters' captivity began to show through. The weakness of human nature began to become more evident and the fear more intense.

Ludwig Donath and Lilla Skala portraying Mr. and Mrs. Frank gave fine performances as courageous, mature parents of two fine and sensitive daughters, Anne and Margot. Perhaps it is Donath's and Miss Skala's lack of fear that gave the first scenes of the play an absence of complete reality.

Renee Haffner as Anne Frank gives a wonderful and sensitive interpretation to the part of an adolescent with a great belief and a longing to be understood . . . the transgression from a vivacious, mischievous child to a more mature and understanding young woman produced an accomplished performance for Miss Haffner.

Danna Hansen as Mrs. Van Dann, a self-centered vain woman, conveys her part quite successfully. Gilbert Green as Mr. Van Dann and Alan Coates as Mr. Dussel supply much of the humor and extract pity from the audience in their parts as men with rather weak characters.

Steve Fraw playing Peter Van Dann does a commendable job as a boy aloof with an inferior opinion of himself. Press gives great feeling to his part as Anne and Peter point-out the contrast of Adults vs. Adolescence.

Settings for "The Diary of Anne Frank" must present quite a challenge to a stage of the playhouse's size. However, Jack Bates did a magnificent job once again.

"Diary" is a play of human suffering with a message that may be called idealistic by some but nevertheless a shining example of faith to those of us who have so little.

Records Smashed During Games

All Sports Marks Going To The U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States kept its victory parade Tuesday, smashing swimming records at will, beating Brazil in baseball 9-2, and advancing strongly in fencing.

Ann Warner, 14, of Menlo Park, Calif., zipped through her heat in the women's 200-meter breaststroke in 2:56.4.

This feat not only smashed the Pan-Am record of 3:06.2 but surpassed the American record of 2:58.3 set by Marianna Hargreaves in 1958.

The other two United States entrants in the race also qualified for the finals with an identical time under the games record. Ann Warner, 11, from Berkeley, Calif., and Patty Kemper, 17, of Beverly Hills, Calif., both were timed in 3:02.3.

The Yank male contingent then took up the assault. George Harrison of Orinda, Calif., won his 100-meter freestyle heat in 1:34.1, well below the games mark of 1:51.3 set by Jimmy McLane in 1953.

Frank McKinney, the defending champion and record holder from Indianapolis, smashed the games and American record for the 100-meter backstroke when he won his heat in 1:03.2. His own Pan-American record was 1:07.1. McKinney previously had beaten the listed American record of 1:04.2.

Chris Von Saltza, the 15-year-old Saratoga, Calif., schoolgirl, also bettered an American record when she won her 100-meter freestyle heat in 1:06.2. The meet and American mark was 1:07.1, by Shelley Mann in 1955.

Finally a U.S. men's relay team shattered the games record for the 800-meter freestyle relay with a time of 8:33.4, compared to the nine minutes flat of the 1955 U.S. team.

In weightlifting, George Emrich of Chicago set four records in the middle heavyweight division, breaking the marks for press, snatch and jerk on his way to a total lift record of 933 1/2 pounds.

The Dominican Republic, defending Pan-American baseball champion, beat Nicaragua 9-3 for its first victory in two starts after the United States had trounced Brazil 9-2.

The United States baseball team exploded with a seven-run outburst against Brazil in the first inning, with Al Hall of El Cajon, Calif., hitting a three-run homer. Ron Klepper of Whittier College, a left hander, held Brazil in check all the way.

There was a big surprise in the Pan-American tennis semifinals. Robert Bedard of Canada pulled another upset in defeating Francisco Contreras of Mexico, fifth ranked in the tournament, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3. In the finals, he will meet first seeded Luis Ayala of Chile who had no trouble disposing of Jon Douglas of Santa Monica 7-5, 6-2, 6-1.

Bettors Burned

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Only two horses were entered in the fourth race at Birmingham Tuesday. But at the start, the heavily favored Title Deed turned toward the crowd and stood meditating while Marsh Meadow took off. Title Deed didn't start until Marsh Meadow was half through the 6-furlong race. Marsh Meadow won by a furlong and a half and paid 5-1.

Rain Ruins Hambletonian Chances

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Rain and the threat of more rain dampened speed record in the 34th renewal of harness racing's grand old classic, the $125,284 Hambletonian.

More than half an inch of rain muddled the clay track at the Duquoin State Fair Ground, scene of Wednesday's premier race for 3-year-old trotters.

Barring additional moisture 15 horses — 13 colts, a filly and a gelding — will go to the post in a bid for all-time record purse and a one-mile record.

The record was set by last year's winner, the filly Emily's Pride, with a 1:50.45 clocking in a third decisive heat on the Duquoin track.

At least four colts in this year's strong field are considered capable of a new mark on a solid track. The fastest time for a colt in the Hambletonian was Hoot Mon's 2:00 in the 1947 Hambletonian at Goshen, N.Y., a race record which stood until last year.

Diller Hanover, a bay colt from Hall Stables, Watertown, N.Y., is a prohibitive favorite at 2-1 in unofficial odds. Pari-mutuel betting is banned by Illinois law on a state fair track.

Sulky fans rate Diller Hanover's strongest competitors as the Silk (4-1), Circo (4-1), Lord Churney (5-1) and John A. Hanover (6-1).

Track officials said the carefully conditioned one-mile Duquoin track dries out in a few hours under sunshine. Fair promoters waited hopefully for the clouds to roll away.

Continued rainfall might force a postponement of the big race until Thursday.

Saylors Lake Fishing Unit Ends Season

THE SAYLORS Lake Fishing Assn. has closed the trout fishing season as of Monday, Aug. 31.

The group reports, however, that fishing will continue for bass, blue gills and perch until cold weather.

The social end of the lake's season, however, will keep going with a Family Night scheduled for Friday, Sept. 4. A water ballet under the lights will be featured that night.

A second water ballet will be held Saturday, Sept. 5, at 8:30 p. m. also under the lights. Following a dance in the main ballroom, a display of fireworks will be given.

Sunday, Sept. 6, will feature a special water carnival and will be directed by lifeguards John Costenbader and Ed Heimbach.

The carnival will include life saving techniques, special water races, log rolling contests, watermelon scrambles for the children and a special clown act.

Pony polo will also be held with the Tannersville Saddle Club presenting the show.

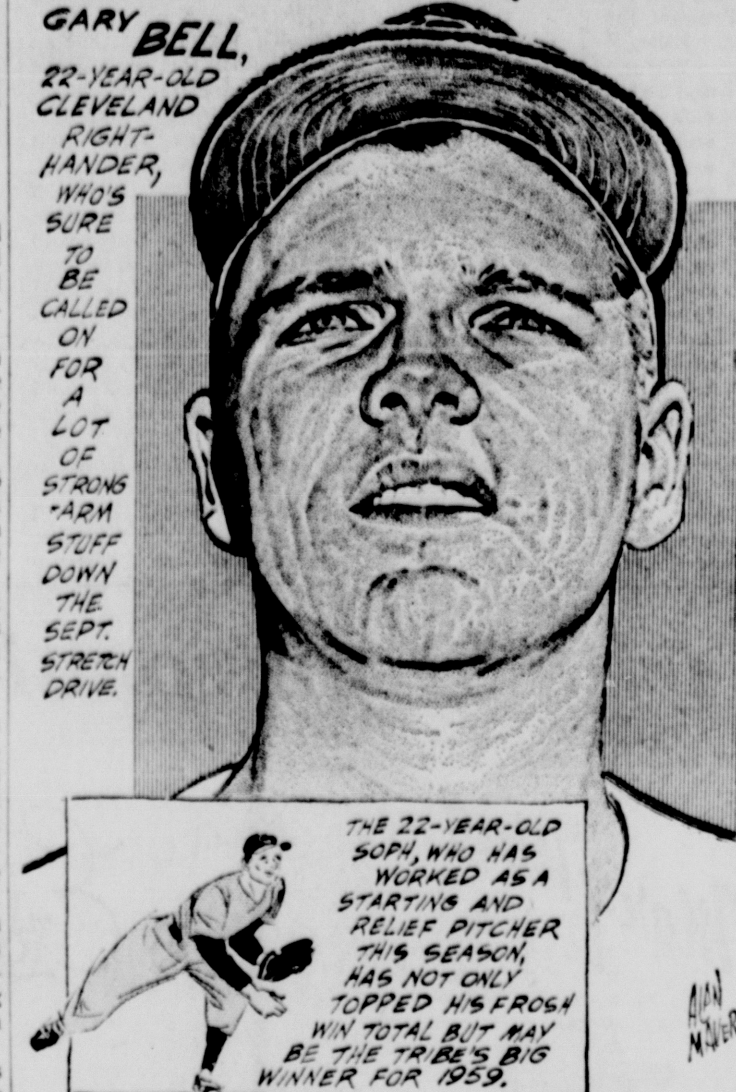

Glen Brook Holds Annual Caddie Dinner

THE SECOND annual Caddies' Dinner was held yesterday at the Glen Brook Country Club. Sam Kinder, club professional, announced the results of the Caddie Tournament held Monday at the club, and awarded prizes.

Low gross division—Butch Cramer, 79; Ace Reynolds, 80. Low net divisions—Dan Fetherman, 159-94-65; Harold Kimball, 138-70-68.

Floyd Edinger was voted the most improved caddie of the year.

Koufax Joins Bob Feller Holding Strikeout Record

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dodger lefthander Sandy Koufax is coholder Tuesday of the major league strikeout record. Yet but for a bad punt, he might be just another pitcher.

Koufax fanned 18 Giants Monday night to equal the record set by Bob Feller in 1938, after the game — Los Angeles won 5-2—Dodger Manager Walt Alton said.

"I would have taken him out if Maury Wills had bunted John Roseboro to second in the seventh inning. I was going to bring in Carl Furillo to pinch hit."

But Wills dribbled the ball in front of the plate, Roseboro was forced, and Koufax stayed in to complete a performance that had a crowd of 82,794 roaring.

Sandy, 23, was suffering from a cold. Each time he went to the dugout he blew his nose. But there was nothing wrong with his arm.

"He had great stuff," said catcher Roseboro. "He kept them looking for that high, hard hummer and then he slipped his curve over. This was something I'll remember all my life."

Koufax said: "I had a real good fast ball. That's what made my curve so effective. They chased a lot of bad curves."

Becker gave this appraisal: "For sheer velocity, I think this fellow throws faster than Feller did. But Feller's fast ball moved around a little more."

Sandy's performance which also obliterated the National League strikeout mark of 17 set by Dizzy Dean in 1933, was no fluke.

He came within one strikeout of tying Dean's record last June 16 when he fanned 16 against Philadelphia. Last time out, also against the Phillies, he struck out 13.

His total of 31 for two consecutive games breaks another Feller record of 28 set in 1938. Sandy is now 8-4 and has 150 strikeouts in 127 innings.

Monday night he whiffed every Giant regular at least once, with 147 pitches.

Champ Buys Villa

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight boxing champion, has purchased a swank villa on the beach of Lac Leman just outside of Geneva, Switzerland, the Stockholm Aftonbladet said Tuesday.

Olmedo Is Top Seeded In Singles

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Wimbledon champions Alex Olmedo and Maria Ester Bueno were top-seeded Tuesday in the draw for the U.S. National Singles Tennis Tournament which opens Friday with only five U.S. players among the 16 seeded competitors.

Olmedo, the Peruvian who lives in Los Angeles, and two Davis of Dayton, Ohio, and 18-year-old Earl Buchholz, Jr. of St. Louis were the only seeded U.S. men.

Darlene Hard, the Wimbledon runner-up from Montebello, Calif., and her Wightman Cup teammate, 19-year-old Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., were the only two seeded U.S. women.

Australian Davis Cup hero Neale Fraser was second-seeded, followed by Christine Truman of Great Britain, Miss Hard, Angela Mortimer of Great Britain, Ann Haydon of Great Britain, Renee Schuurman of South Africa and Miss Moore in the 64-player women's draw.

Neither of the 1958 champions is entered. Ashley Cooper of Australia, the men's titlist, turned pro last January. Althea Gibson, the women's champion, is completing a year's retirement except for her entry in the Pan-American Games in Chicago.

Olmedo, who was below form as the United States lost the Davis Cup earlier this week, opens against Don Russell, an Australian who attends Pan-American University in Edinburgh, Tex. Fraser faces Ned Neely of Atlanta, Ga.

MacKay will play unknown Gerard Alayne of Brooklyn, while Laver opposes Arthur Ashe of Lynchburg, Va., the national Negro junior champion, to start the 128-player men's tournament.

The Orioles achieved a peak of frustration in the seventh inning by leading the bases twice with out scoring. They also had the bases filled in the ninth and couldn't score.

Whitey Ford, Yankee southpaw relieved by Ryne Duren in the threatened Oriole uprising, received credit for his 14th victory in 21 decisions.

After giving up seven hits to the Yankees in the first two innings, Jerry Walker set them down in order in the next four and left after the seventh with his eighth setback, one fewer than his victories.

Five singles in the first inning gave the Yanks 3 runs and they added 2 more runs in the ninth, including a triple by Bobby Richardson, off Arnold Portocarrero.

Richardson, Tony Kubek, Mickey Mantle, Hector Lopez and Gil McDougald delivered the first-inning singles.

Poconos Takeoff Hit By Troubles

By Bob Clark
Daily Record Sports Editor

THE TWIN City Poconos finally got off the ground in their airlift to the World Softball Championships at Long Beach last Sunday at 8 p. m.

The squad of 13 players, manager and coach left Philadelphia's International Airport for Chicago on the first leg of the trip.

The first group of players had left Stroudsburg Friday night, and were forced to sleep on benches at the Quaker City airport since the flight, had been called off, and they had not been informed.

The ten were Dipe Lessig, Dick Posten, Dick Pennington, Harold Freeman, Harold Strunk, Willie Kresge, Jim Ungrovisky, Joe Drach, Tony Stalcione, Candy Miller and Pete Casella.

Stan Tchorz and Tom Lind had gone on to LaGuardia Airport, in New York City, since the flight was to have originated there, and then had to fly to Philadelphia to catch the balance of the team.

Tom Waring tried to sleep during the beginning of the flight, but the team wouldn't let him. He then kept them entertained with stories and humor for some time.

Just before landing in Chicago, the hostess announced: "There will be a layover of 30 to 40 minutes. Please stay in the vicinity of the airport."

One hour and 25 minutes later the plane took off for Burbank. Tom Lind, ex-footballer from Indiana, University, told some stories about his college playing days, and told of his being second string end behind the famous Pete Pihos. Ted Kluszczyk and "Hunchy" Hoernschmyer, the former in baseball and the latter a great Hoosier quarterback, were also members of the team.

Arriving at Burbank, the group found it was more than a two-hour drive to Long Beach.

Time of arrival was 5:15 a. m. PDT or 8:15 a. m. EDT in Monroe County.

The boys scattered upon arrival to get transportation to the Lafayette Hotel for their accommodations.

Pennington, manager Davies, Lind, Tchorz and Pennington used Ray's cousin's station wagon to drive to Los Angeles and then transferred to a cab to get to the hotel.

The rest of the team went by bus to L.A. and then took a second bus to Long Beach.

Notes on the trip out included: The coffee served in the plane was not too hot. As a matter of fact it was iced.

Manager Davies tried paying Joe Mobley in Philly, but Mobley failed to appear. He flew out later to join the team.

Joe Whalen is called "mother" by the team for all the assistance given his wife with their 15-month old boy, Joe, Jr.

Washington Trims Red Sox, 7-4

BOSTON (AP)—Harmon Killebrew blasted his 39th home run of the season high over the center-field wall Tuesday as Washington outlasted the Boston Red Sox 7-4 in a three-hour duel.

Killebrew's clout with the bases empty in the seventh tie the dim with Cleveland's Rocky Colavito for the home run leadership in the American League and helped snap Boston's winning string at four.

The Red Sox, who out-hit the visitors 13-8, were plagued by bases on balls. Three Boston pitchers allowed 11, with starter and loser Earl Wilson (1-1) giving up eight in 3 1/3 innings.

Two of them scored on a single by Jim Lemon in the third, giving Washington its initial lead. A two-run double by Roy Sievers, which highlighted a three-run Washington eighth inning, was the other big hit.

That gave the Senators a 6-3 lead and enabled them to last through Red Sox rallies in the eighth and ninth. A double by Gene Stephens, who also had a triple and a single, and a single by Jackie Jensen got one for Boston in the eighth.

Washington 002 100 130-7 8 1
Boston 000 200 110-4 13 1
Pasqual, Cleveland (8) and Naragon; Wilson, Schroll (4), Chittum (8) and White, W.—Pasqual (13-10), L.—Wilson (1-1).
Home runs—Washington, Killebrew (39).

From The Bench By Bob Stewart

Several short notes on area athletics and athletes show the following:

The Morris Hills Regional High School football team is presently practicing at Camp Lindenmere, Tannersville. The school is situated in Morrisville, N. J.

Thomas Besecker, former athlete at Pocono Township High School will be married in October.

Jerry Fritz, assistant football coach at East Stroudsburg High, has moved from North Courtland St. to Anomink St. in that borough.

The Penn State Alumni Club, recently reorganized, will hold a re-organization meeting to bring all prospective members together, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Speaker at the affair will be Rosa B. Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the Alumni Assn. of the University, who will show films of last year's Penn State-Pitt game.

All alumni are asked in advance to set this day aside for the big event.

Our very good friend Daniel Warner has one of the saddest tales of tongue or pen.

The story concerns his losing the Indian Mountain golf tourney on the 37th hole by one really big stroke.

The story was of such heartwarming pathos we thought we could actually see our buddy as he trekked, fearfully, to that last green to lose by a bad putt.

Gary Stackhouse, former Penn Argyll football player, is now among those going after a berth as tackle on the Bloomsburg State Teachers College team.

Three golfers from Brooklyn and one from Bridgeport, Conn., scored holes-in-one at Mountain Manor between Aug. 16 and Aug. 26.

Sid Reading, on the sixth hole; Manny Zamore, on the ninth hole; Ben Blumenfeld, on the ninth hole, all from Brooklyn, and Clifford Elke, of Bridgeport, on the first hole, were the golfers getting ascs.

Bobby Somers, son of Jim Somers of the commercial printing department of The Daily Record, suffered a hairline break on his left ankle yesterday while practicing with the Stroudsburg team. The injury will bench him for six weeks.

Pius X Football Team Now Preparing For Opening

ROSETO—Pius X High's head football coach Vince Shemanski and his staff report the progress being made by the 40 candidates presently under their charge is very good.

The team is practicing at the Roseto Ball Park, and will open its season against St. Michaels in Bangor Memorial Park, Sept. 20.

Standouts during practice sessions, the coaches report, have been Nick DeGrosso, fullback; Pete Zanette, guard; Barry Mack and Ralph Lopardo, tackles, and Frank Graziano, center.

Zanette and DeGrosso were elected co-captains, and both are letter winners.

On the defense, Richie Reto, senior halfback, and Mike Capobianco and George Giacquinto, both juniors, have shown up well, the staff reports. Capobianco is at halfback, while Giacquinto is quarterback.

On the coaching staff at the school are Chick Miller and Don Carbone, graduates of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

LARGEST CROWD OF THE SEASON—Baseball fans will be talking about that weekend Chicago-Cleveland series in Cleveland's Municipal stadium for many a day. The largest crowd of the season (above), an estimated 78,000 persons (70,398 paid), squeezed into the huge lake-front bowl for the opening night game in a gala, World Series atmosphere.

Plans Made For Scout Camporee

BANGOR—Plans for the district camporee to be held at Bushkill Center on Sept. 12 and 13 were made Monday night at the regular meeting of Boy Scout Troop 37 in the First Methodist Church.

Fritz Jones, scoutmaster supervised the meeting and Dennis Strout, acted as senior patrol leader for the meeting in the absence of James Gaffney, who is vacationing out of town.

Tripp Scribe Glenn Grigg was elected as troop scribe and librarian. In an effort to organize a merit badge pamphlet library for members, Grigg requested that all scouts having merit badge booklets and not permanently in use, should file the booklets with him for use of other members of the troop.

The meeting ceremonies were in charge of Brian Albert, Larry Lobb, Donald Spry and Charles Cole.

FAIR ATTRACTION—Stoney Cooper and Wilma Lee will be featured at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair which opens today in Newfoundland. They head group from Grand Ole Opry.

Country Music Act Set For Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair

NEWFOUNDLAND—North-eastern Pennsylvania's country music act will be a featured attraction at Northeastern Pennsylvania's biggest community fair this week.

The act is Wilma Lee, Stoney Cooper and The Clinch Mountain Clan, currently among the brightest stars of the famed Grand Ole Opry, and the fair is the Greene-Dreher-Sterling, which has its forty-second annual 42nd annual renewal here today through Saturday.

The Grand Ole Opry troupe will make its appearance at the fair tomorrow night, with the first show scheduled for 8 p. m., rain or shine. There is no admission charge for this event. As a matter of fact, there is never an admission charge at the GDS Fair! A nominal fee for those wishing to park on the fairgrounds proper is the only charge made at the local agricultural exhibition.

Wilma Lee and Stoney Cooper come to the GDS Fair at the zenith of their long career in country music entertainment. Their latest Hickory Record release, "The Big Midnight Special," is currently number five in the national popularity poll and their preceding release, "Come Walk With Me," rode the top 20 charts for 27 weeks, rating fourth for five consecutive weeks.

The Opry troupe was the featured grandstand attraction at the recent Illinois State Fair, as well as at many smaller fairs throughout the mid-west.

Fairgoers will have the opportunity to hear in person the many hit tunes turned out by this group over the years, first at the WWVA World's Original Jamboree and more recently at America's most-listened-to radio show, The Grand Ole Opry.

These include: "Cheated, Too"; "Row Number Two, Seat Number Three"; "Diamond Joe"; "The Tramp On the Street"; and "Walking My Lord Up Calvary's Hill".

Churchman Cites Blue Laws As Hurdle To Pennsylvania

Philadelphia alone each year," he declared, and added "There is nothing in sacred scripture to support their contention that moderate drinking is sinful. As a matter of fact, there is evidence that Christ believed the relaxation derived from moderate drinking to be of decided benefit for his followers. You will recall his first major miracle occurred at the marriage feast where he transformed water into wine."

The question of Sunday opening should be left to the people and the Legislature should pass a law enabling them to vote by referendum, he said. In this way if they wish to continue to carry the crushing burden of unemployment they may do so, or if they wish these 18th century laws removed, they will have the power to do so.

J. B. Robacker, president of the club, presided. The speaker was introduced by Henry Arneberg.

The Philadelphia reactor sharply criticized clergyman who attempt to impose their will on the majority through threats of reprisals at the polls against legislators who will not bend to their way.

HEADS UP POWER LINES CAN'T DUCK

Electricity, properly controlled is the world's best and cheapest servant . . . and is completely safe!

But, when people get careless, accidents can happen. Improperly handled ladders and other high-reaching tools or equipment can make contact with power lines. When that happens, you've got trouble, real trouble!

Service can be interrupted to hundreds of electric users. Even worse, your life may be endangered.

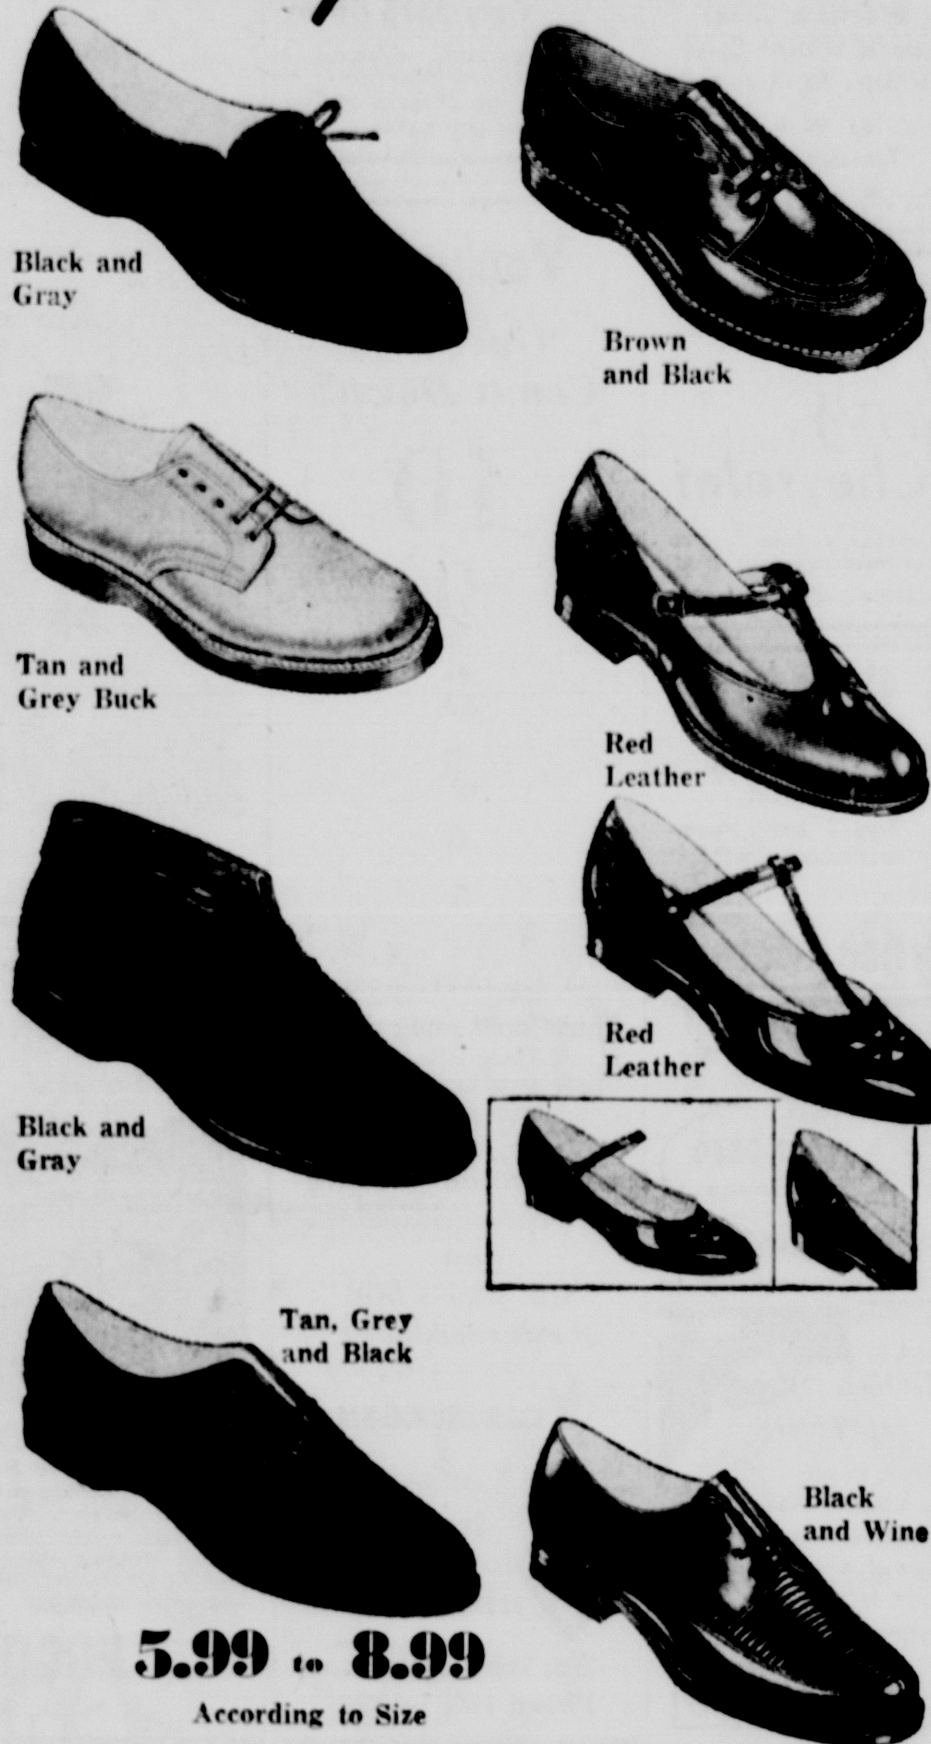

Play it safe, keep all tools and equipment at least six feet away from power lines. And treat all wires as "hot"—remember, you can't tell by looking.
